

Analysis paralysis?

Get connected to connect the dots

The annual employee survey results are in. Your team needs to analyze and interpret fast to inform the big decisions next year.

You want to present the results to all of your business partners and talk them through the insights.

That's a lot of meetings, conversations, and content to get through. Let Webex Meetings take the strain and stress out of meetings, so you can focus on getting insights out to the business, on time and on point.

Webex Meetings will reduce travel, save time and help you get more done.

Communicate company results faster with HD video and screen sharing.

Simple scheduling

Set up Webex Meetings right from your calendar with a couple of clicks. Use recurring invitations so you only have to do it once. Everyone gets simple joining instructions and no one needs to travel.

Keep everyone on the same page

No need to send slides or other content in advance of the meetings. Share survey results, spreadsheets, and presentations to co-edit in real time.

Catch up with recordings

We can't make every meeting. When important information is shared and key decisions are made, avoid repetition by recording the meeting and sending a link to the colleagues who couldn't make it.
