Solution

Bi-directional integration between Box and Webex helps you to collaborate seamlessly:

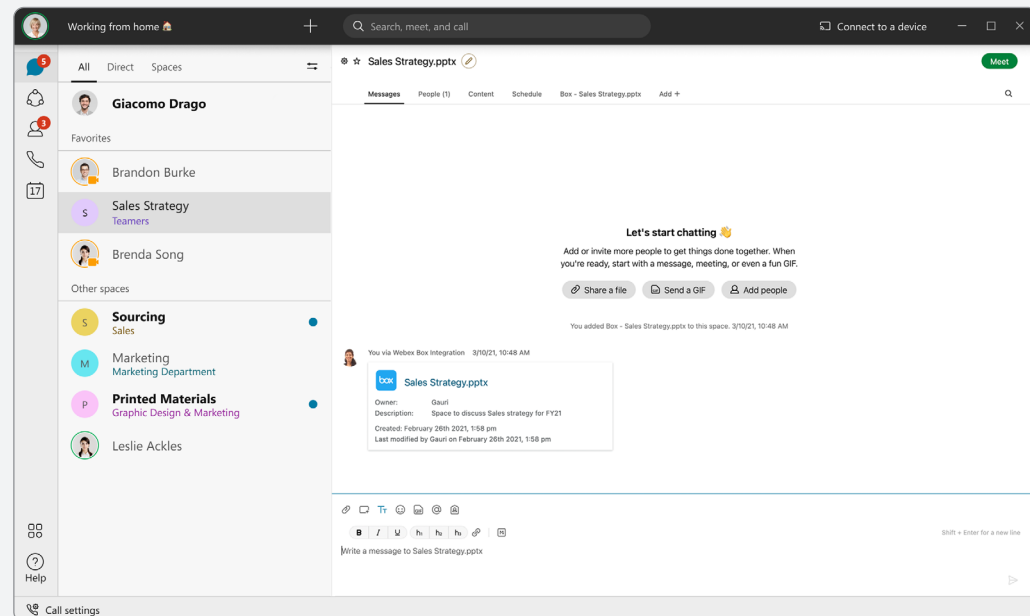

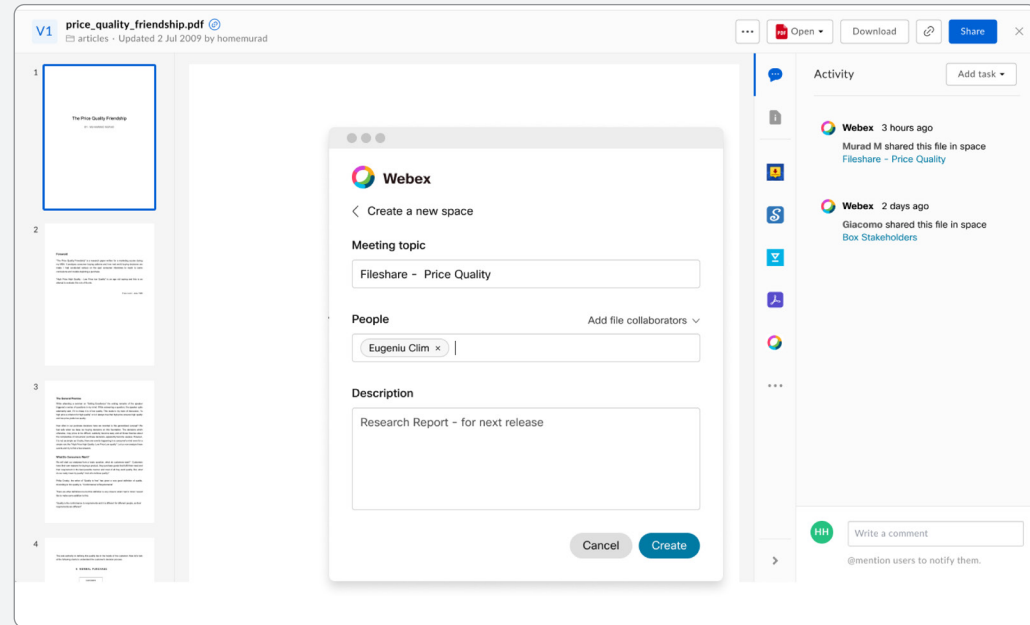

- Built-in instant messaging for simplified persistent communication
- Built-in video enabled meetings for effortlessly switching from digital to live collaboration
- Single unified view for content, conversations, meetings, recordings, and transcripts to eliminate context switching

Benefits

1. Integrated context and richer messaging conversations:

- Create or launch a Webex space from Box with your content and communicate with peers
- Open a Box document directly inside a Webex space and collaborate with peers while updating the document

Cisco Webex and Box integration lets you keep your workflow momentum going, enabling you to effortlessly switch to messaging or a live meeting from within a Box document.

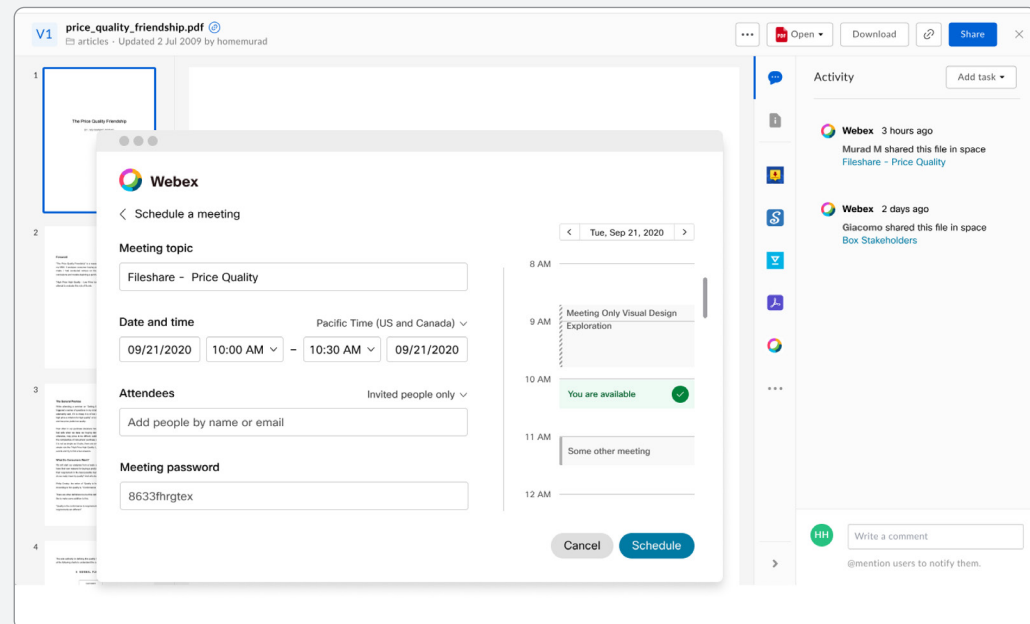

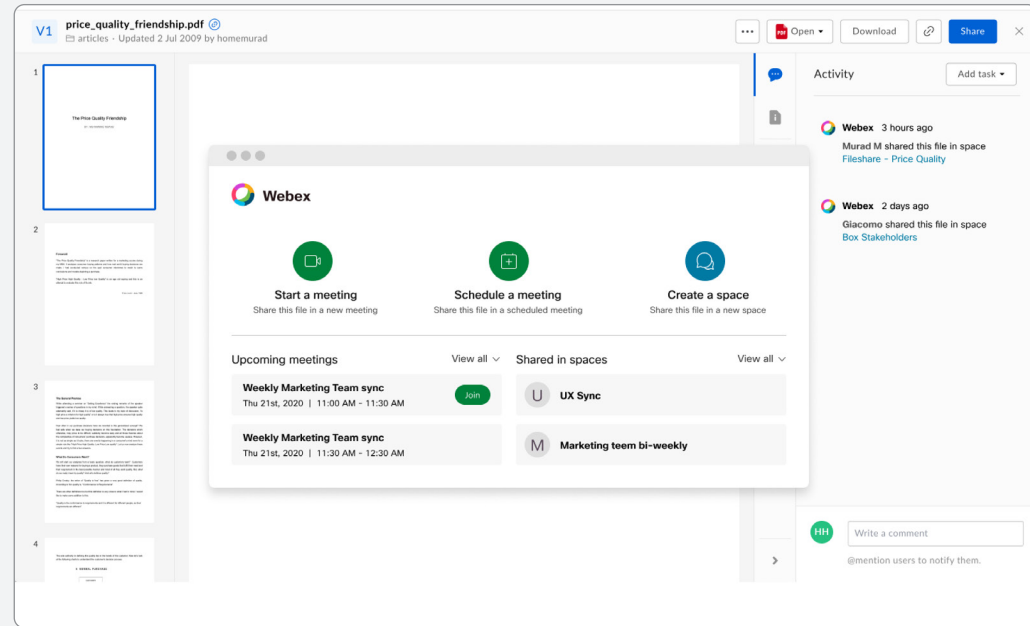

Benefits

2. Keep the workflow momentum and effortlessly switch from digital to live collaboration:

- Start a Webex meeting from within Box with one click
- Save time scheduling meetings, with pre-populated meeting subject and an easy way to add coworkers resulting in no context switching between Box and scheduling apps

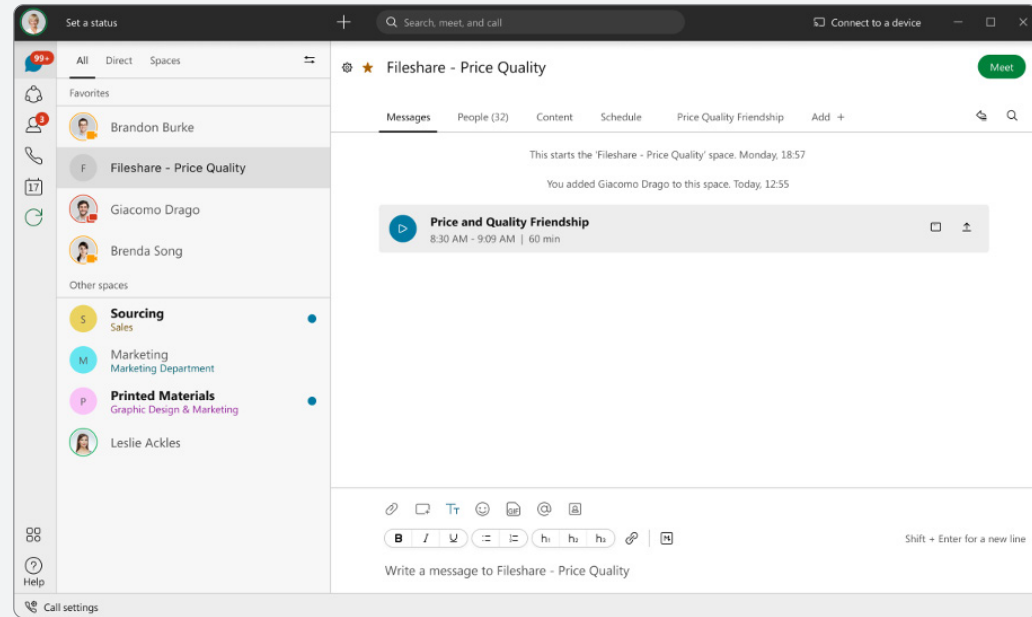

If questions arise as you are reviewing a project plan in Box, you can easily call or message a colleague from within the active document. There's no need to exit Box, launch Webex, and start a separate meeting. Get the answers you need, fast, with Cisco Webex integration.

Benefits

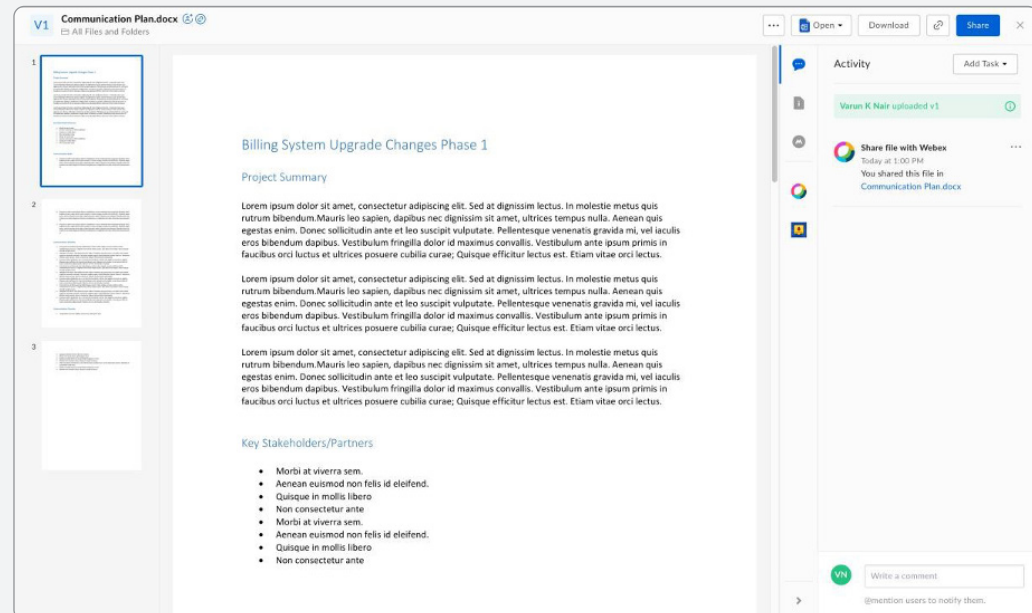

3. Single unified view for content, conversations, meetings:

- Access meeting recordings and transcripts for meetings started or scheduled within a Webex space
- Stay updated on content being leveraged by knowing when and who the file was shared with

Cisco Webex and Box work together to enhance your content management.
