

The social media storm

Respond faster with Webex Meetings

Rapid response to social media crisis.

Before social media, if there was a statement that could harm our brand, it would take days to get the team together and produce a response. It would be a struggle trying to get the right people together in one room quickly.

Now you can get all the right people, in one place with just a few clicks.

There's no need to be in the office, joining a Webex meeting is simple, quick and easy, the team can join the meeting from any device, whenever and wherever they are.

Immediate access to the right people and information means a faster and better response in the event of a social media crisis.

Social Media War room

With Webex Meetings you can create your own meeting room link, add it to your email signature and ask your team to bookmark it. Any time you want to start an instant meeting just say, 'my room' and everyone will know how to join the meeting in literally a few seconds.
