

Break down communication barriers in a crisis

When a crisis happens, every second counts. With Webex you can get your team together and fully briefed fast. Everything you need is all in one place, from keeping your team updated through messages and video calling, to sharing photos, maps and files securely.

Use Webex when a response is needed fast, and keep momentum moving forward.

Send messages

Keep your supervisors up to date when they can't be with you in the field, from your mobile phone.

Share your screen, files or photographs

Work together to create a plan to deal with the crisis whether you're on-site or in headquarters.

Call your team on the fly

Start a video call so everyone gets the update the same time, even your sergeant in headquarters. Don't forget to record the call so anyone who missed it can catch up.
